In retiring from business in Frankfort I take pleasure in expressing my entire confidence in Mr. S. Ayers, and from my long acquaintance with him as a workman, do not hesitate to commend him as every way capable of meeting the expectation of my former partner.

Thanksgiving in Kentucky.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, A Christian people should be ever mindful of the manifold blessings constantly bestowed upon them by a benevolent Creator; and whereas, the current year has been especially marked by the abundant bestowal of general good health, peace, and prosperity throughout this Commonwealth and our common country;

Now, therefore, I, LUKE P. BLACKBURN, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, in compliance with a long established usage, do appoint THURSDAY, THE 30th DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1882, as a day of general Thanksgiving and prayer, and recommend that all secular business be suspended on that day, and the people assemble in their usual places of worship, and return sincere and hearty thanks to Almighty God for His continuous goodness, and the blessings so abundantly bestowed upon us.

In witness whereof, I hereto sign my name and cause the seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed. Done at Frankfort, this 26th day of November, A. D. 1882.

LUKE P. BLACKBURN.

JAMES BLACKBURN, Secretary of State.

Mr. Wash Green will marry soon, it is said, and will return to his farm to reside in the spring.

Tenor's sweetheart in this neighborhood has gone back on him, and he looks terribly disconsolate.

It is said the school teacher at Bailey's Mill has to keep a pistol buckled around him in order to have good order in school.

Mr. L. W. Shuckford, who eloped with and married Miss Loulie Rogers about a month since, has settled down to married life and is doing well.

Mr. H. S. Banta has leased the Walker Stephens place, on the Louisville pike, and will shortly remove to it.

The sidewalk from this city to Taylortown is an assured fact. The amount has been subscribed and the work will be done in a short time.

Mr. John A. Graves, of this city, but formerly of Union county, and Miss Cornelia M. Wilkerson, of this county, eloped from this city Wednesday afternoon and were married at his sister's in Louisville. It seems that Mr. Graves was quite a ladies man and had engaged himself to another young lady in this city who had made her arrangements to marry him next week. It was doubtless a cruel disappointment to her, but she can congratulate herself upon having made so narrow an escape from being lied for life to so sickly a creature.

The following is the vote for Congressmen in this county on Tuesday:

BLACKBURN.	ASHBURY.
Benson.....	25
Peak's Mill.....	155
Forks Elkhorn.....	100
Bloomington.....	41
Bridgeport.....	44
Cedar Run.....	85
Court House.....	235
Gas House.....	136
	243
	852
	444

At Benson one vote was cast for W. H. Sted and at the Court House one for Rodman. The votes at the Market House precinct were thrown out for the reason that the officers of election in that precinct, after counting the ballots, burned them instead of placing them in the box and sealing it up as required by law. The vote there stood, Blackburn, 172; Ashbury, 158.

A Frankfort Dispatch says:

"Two men of the Kentucky Guards were wounded."

Why not give their names and the location and character of the wound?—Cooper's Commonwealth 6th Inst.

"Their names and the location and character of their wounds" were given in the Louisville Commercial and Courier Journal of the 3d instant and in both the papers of this city on the 4th inst. If you are anxious to know, however, we will give them again:

Corporal Duncan Holmes was slightly wounded in the face by a buck-shot grazing his cheek.

Private Lewis Scott was struck near the crown of his head by a buckshot, which buried itself under the scalp, and the end of the second finger of his left hand was shot off by the same sort of missile.

The boy on the wharf boat, who fired his little pistol in the air, of course wounded them; not the "wild boys" on the ferryboat, oh no! They were not armed.

A new floor has been laid in the engine house and the stalls have been brought into the back part of the west room of the building and arranged so that the horses face the street, and when an alarm is given by simply pulling a rope a lattice gate in front of each stall is thrown open, the horses are released from their halters, and run to their place. This is very much more convenient than the old arrangement when a large door at the rear of the building as well as the stall doors had to be opened in order to allow the horses to come in, and they do not have so far to go in order to reach their positions. The old stable has been turned into a receptacle for feed, room for which was very much needed heretofore. The Chief has had a register placed in the centre of the building bearing the names of each man employed to remain at the house, and when all are there the names are covered by slides, but when one wishes to leave he is required to pull out the slide over his name and take it with him, and while his name remains uncovered no one else is allowed to leave.

"Rough on Rats."

There will be an open meeting of the Good Templars at their hall, in Old Fellows Temple, next Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock. Good speeches, good music, and a good time. Everybody is invited.

Messrs. A. H. and R. K. McClure have sold the large brick dwelling house on Main street, known as the Price property, to Messrs. W. A. Gaines & Co., for $6,500 cash. Messrs. Gaines & Co., will tear it away in the spring and erect a large warehouse and office on its site.

The most complete stock of heating and cooking stoves to be seen in the city is at John T. Buckley's. He has recently enlarged his store-room which enables him to make a handsome display of his stock, and he has some beautiful goods. Mr. Buckley will hereafter remain in the house all the time himself and all the job work left there will receive prompt attention, as he makes that branch of his business a specialty. His terms will be strictly cash in future.

Mr. W. T. Runyan has just received from Messrs. Boisard, Armstrong & Co., of Philadelphia, one of the neatest cases for holding silk we have ever seen.

It is of elegant carved walnut, the drawers being glass front, an is filled with spools of silk and twist of all sizes and of every conceivable shade.

In the centre is a large mirror and in the top is a nice little clock striking away. It is a handsome piece of furniture and will supply the ladies with some of the prettiest thread they ever ran through the eve of a needle.

V. Berberich, the S. Clair street tailor, is making the neatest fitting suits for the lowest cash prices.

MARRIED

At the residence of the bride's father, on October 28, Mr. John B. Reddish and Miss Mary Taylor, daughter of Mr. Thompson Taylor, Esq., in the second year of her age.

None but, mother, ease those bitter tears to shed.

Why shouldst thou then be happy—
The world is not dead.

But rest in a quiet holy sleep.

Sickness and pain can rack her little form no more.

With her the trials of a sinful world are over.

She tasted but enough of this cold heartless world.

Even but enough of sickness, pain were given,

That left her spirit had its angel wings unfurled.

Might know how sweet it is to dwell in Heaven;

Or I she but learned by pain how sweet the rest
With which all born to Heaven shall be forever blessed.

I know 'twas hard for thee from thy dear babe to part.

The flesh indeed is weak—it cost thee many

I know it sorely tried thy tender heart,

"Tis a hard trial for a mother's heart to bear;

The Lord who gave her to thee did but take the same;

Canst then not say, "and ever blessed be His name?"

C. H. Bronson, Louisville, says: "I tried Brown's Iron Bitter to tone my system, and found it exactly what I wanted."

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

The largest livery owner in Maine uses Kendall's Spavin cure with the best success.

Judge George N. Brown has instructed the grand jury at Calaisburg to indict all persons who in any way made any effort to secure the release of Neal and Craft from the State troops. It will not vary a person to count the number of indictments they will return against members of the mob when their halors are concealed.

Bald Knob.

Mr. W. R. Clark's son, who was very ill, has recovered.

The Congressional election passed off very quietly. Only 85 votes were polled.

Joseph North has been three weeks gathering eight barrels of corn. He needs help.

Mr. Berry Witt, of Stoney Creek, visited friends in this neighborhood the first of the week.

Mr. D. P. Bentley's school is ornamented with a new broom, an old ax and a new handle.

The dance at Mr. Abe Rucker's passed off very pleasantly, and we are glad to say there was no disturbance, of any kind—the first time this year.

Captain Peyton lost his quart of whisky last Monday. He will hardly survive the misfortune.

Bridgeport.

Keeling Gaines is the boss horse tamer.

The election passed off quietly, only 52 votes polled.

Rev. R. Ryland, D. D., of Lexington, was in the village this week.

Mr. Alex. Julian and his son Tarleton, are on a trip to Texas.

Mr. R. Rogers, of Frankfort, paid a visit to relatives in this place last Sunday.

Mr. H. Clay Dunigan and wife of Frankfort, were the guests of Mr. Jno. Jenkins, sr., last Sunday.

Regular services at the Bridgeport Christian Church, to-morrow both morning and night. Eld. Terrell pastor.

Miss Leona Jett, who has been visiting friends in this section for two or three weeks past, has returned home.

Mrs. Ellen Kolleg Barran, 32 years ago of this place but now of Wisconsin, paid us a visit last week, the first since that time.

Married at the residence of Esquire J. W. Jackson, in this town, Nov. 9, 1882, Mr. William T. Wilson and Miss Annie Mayhall, Rev. J. W. Pugh officiating.

We were shown the stalls of corn last Wednesday grown on the farm of Ralph Armstrong that measured 15 feet in length. Also an extra large year of corn that grew on said stalk. Who can beat it.

Roll of honor of Frankfort school for week ending Nov. 16, 1882: Charlie Russell, Louie Roberts, Emma House, John Crockett, Maggie Branch, Ernest Wilson, Willie Parrett, Mattie Lou Crockett, John Brown, Lucy Brown, Ruthie Roberts, Berrie Jenkins, Sallie Ruth Wilson, Willie Russell, Annie Dowden, Charlie Watts.

Benson

Mrs. Jane Reddish, of Frankfort (South Side), visited her nephew, Mr. Joe Scott, of this place last week.

Cannot some one get up a come in the day time for the benefit of some in this neighborhood. They say it rises too early for them.

It is thought the matrimonial fever will soon break out in this place, as there are several that have strong symptoms of the disease now.

We have had a nice rain, and Capt. Fox and Polk Conway are happy. Fox can now run his boat and Polk his mill. Bring on your corn, boys.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Pattie and their son, Hugh, have been to Boone county visiting relatives. Their daughter, Mary, has been very sick during their absence.

The young men of this place have organized a shooting club. They meet every Wednesday night at the school-house. Mr. Laz. Huley, announcer. Turn out, ye spartans.

The Rev. Wm. Smith, like Paul of old, thinks it no disgrace to labor with his hands. He has the contract for making one hundred tobacco hogsheads, and is now at work on them.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Conway and two of their children, from Owen county, after visiting relatives in Frankfort, came out and had a couple of days with Mr. Polk Conway's family. Mr. Johnson says rabbits and possums are ripe in their country. Ditto here.

And now the irrepressible mother-in-law is on hand again. This time she says she must have a beef kill or she will leave. Now, Joseph, kill that beef, even if the strong arm (Armstrong) should take one-half, and the other half be laid by a sheet. There is a Hunter here, who if called upon, will find a share of it. Do not let her go around crying beef, beef, when there is no beef. Let us have beef.

AMOUR.

Stoney Creek

Black haws and rabbits are ripe. Never without news for the ROUNDABOUT. Apples are very scarce in this neighborhood.

Mr. James Buford left last week for Owen county to visit friends and relatives.

Bro. Coppage preached a very impressive sermon at Autioch Sunday week. Text Matthew, 6:33.

Rumor has it there will be a wedding in this neighborhood soon. We will congratulate them, if we get a chance.

Some of the people of this vicinity have been put to a great deal of trouble by some unknown party or parties, who would pass very well for horse thieves. Whoever they are, they took the privilege on Friday night, the 27th ult., of taking Mr. Wm. P. O'Neil's horse from his stable and riding off with it, which caused him a great deal of trouble, and he has been hunting for it. It was gone for several days. On Saturday night, at the Old Fellow Hall, on Stoney Creek some one had the impudence to take Mr. Simon's horse and ride or lead it to Bailey's Mill, or near there, and turn it loose. He found it Sunday in a much worsened condition. It would be a blessing to our community if these parties could be caught and made to suffer for their misconduct. If the law will not bring them to justice a rare neatly made and well-constructed leather belt with many allusions in stamping them in. I do not think it is any one who belongs in this neighborhood, for I do not believe there is a person who lives in this vicinity who would be guilty of such conduct. All the horses that have been taken were from parties living on the pike, and are ridden in the direction of Bailey's Mill, and when they reach there are exchanged for others belonging to farmers in this neighborhood. I guess the people think they are very sharp, but it's a long line that has no turn, and they may get into trouble yet.

On Saturday night, at the Old Fellow Hall, on Stoney Creek some one had the impudence to take Mr. Simon's horse and ride or lead it to Bailey's Mill, or near there, and turn it loose. He found it Sunday in a much worsened condition. It would be a blessing to our community if these parties could be caught and made to suffer for their misconduct. If the law will not bring them to justice a rare neatly made and well-constructed leather belt with many allusions in stamping them in. I do not think it is any one who belongs in this neighborhood, for I do not believe there is a person who lives in this vicinity who would be guilty of such conduct. All the horses that have been taken were from parties living on the pike, and are ridden in the direction of Bailey's Mill, and when they reach there are exchanged for others belonging to farmers in this neighborhood. I guess the people think they are very sharp, but it's a long line that has no turn, and they may get into trouble yet.

O'Neil's horse from his stable and riding off with it, which caused him a great deal of trouble, and he has been hunting for it. It was gone for several days.
